"The building and project revealed considerable challenges as opening-up was carried out. Methods for dealing with previously unknown extents of issues such as, existing façade failures and water ingress, were proposed by Duggan Brothers as these became apparent. The aim of which was maintaining progress and finding economic and sustainable solutions. Planned work sequences were amended, to facilitate progress. Duggan Brothers' Directors took a detailed interest in the project and attended regular meetings throughout the project, to keep the project on track. This led to a confidence on the client side that even though issues were arising, that they would be dealt with efficiently and that the project would be a success".

“Duggan Brothers Ltd. were the Main Contractors on the ALT Hotel Development (Wren Hotel), in Dublin City Centre. Their organisation and management of the works were very admirable. The challenges of the extremely tight urban site and limited access to it, were creatively dealt with.

Duggan Brothers were proactive in dealing with issues encountered, such as design, supply chain and cost issues; and worked collaboratively with the Design Team to resolve them.

It has been a pleasure to work with Duggan Brothers Ltd. who were committed and professional in their delivery of a very complicated project”.
